DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-7 and 14-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Biber (US 6,960,012). Regarding claim 1, Biber ('012) discloses a system comprising a holder (22) comprising a clamp (76) having a plate (78); a motor (34); and a platform (170 and optionally including 166 and/or 168) for being removably placed within the holder. With the claim discusses an intended use of the platform and plate, "the manner or method in which such machine is to be utilized is not germane to the issue of patentability of the machine itself" In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and "recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus" Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1987). "[A]pparatus claims cover what a device is, not what a device does" (emphasis in original) Hewlett-Packard v. Bausch & Lomb Inc. 15 USPQ2d 1525, 1528 (Fed. Cir. 1990). Regarding claims 2, 3 and 7, these claims discuss unclaimed containers rather than the claimed structure. Applicant is reminded that "the manner or method in which such machine is to be utilized is not germane to the issue of patentability of the machine itself" In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967). Regarding claim 4, the platform includes a stop proximate the edge of the platform (see Fig. 16). Regarding claim 5, the platform is composed of a material selected from a group including a metal, a polyester resin and a resilient material (see col. 5, lines 3-9). Regarding claim 6, the perimeter of the platform is less than the perimeter of the holder (see Fig. 2). Regarding claim 14, Biber ('012) discloses an apparatus comprising means (22) for holding comprising a means (76) for clamping; means (34) for moving; and means (170 and optionally including 166 and/or 168) for adjusting height configured for being removably placed within the means for holding. Regarding claims 15, 16 and 19, these claims discuss unclaimed containers rather than the claimed structure. Regarding claim 17, the means for adjusting height includes means for stopping (see Fig. 16). Regarding claim 18, the perimeter of the means for adjusting height is less than the perimeter of the means for holding (see Fig. 2). Regarding claim 20, Biber ('012) discloses a system comprising a holder (22) comprising a clamp (76) having a plate (78); a motor (34); and a platform (170 and optionally including 166 and/or 168) for being removably placed within the holder. With the claim discusses an intended use of the platform and plate, "the manner or method in which such machine is to be utilized is not germane to the issue of patentability of the machine itself" In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and "recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus" Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1987). "[A]pparatus claims cover what a device is, not what a device does" (emphasis in original) Hewlett-Packard v. Bausch & Lomb Inc. 15 USPQ2d 1525, 1528 (Fed. Cir. 1990). Claims 21 and 25, discuss unclaimed containers rather than the claimed structure. Regarding claim 22, the platform includes a stop proximate the edge of the platform (see Fig. 16). Regarding claim 23, the platform is composed of a material selected from a group including a metal, a polyester resin and a resilient material (see col. 5, lines 3-9). Regarding claim 24, the perimeter of the platform is less than the perimeter of the holder (see Fig. 2).

Response to Arguments

3. The claims as currently amended are not rejection under section 112.
4. Applicant's arguments fail to point out any difference between the structure being claimed and the structure which is the prior art. That a certain container of the prior art is not contacted during a particular operation does not distinguish the claimed structure from that of the prior art, because no container is claimed in the instant claims. "[T]he manner or method in which such machine is to be utilized is not germane to the issue of patentability of the machine itself" In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and "recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus" Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1987). "[A]pparatus claims cover what a device is, not what a device does" (emphasis in original) Hewlett-Packard v. Bausch & Lomb Inc. 15 USPQ2d 1525, 1528 (Fed. Cir. 1990).

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
